Fast Enterprises Honored as a Glassdoor ‘Best Place to Work’ for Third Consecutive Year

February 2, 2016. Denver, CO - For the third year in a row, government software and consulting services provider Fast Enterprises, LLC (FAST) has been honored as a “best place to work” by online jobs and career community Glassdoor.

Glassdoor announced its top 50 U.S. ‘Best Small & Medium Companies to Work For’ list as part of its 2016 Employees’ Choice Awards. The annual awards are based on anonymous employee feedback in areas such as job satisfaction, career opportunities, pay and benefits, company culture, and more.

“We’re proud that our employees have once again confirmed that FAST is a great place to work, but we don’t take that confirmation for granted,” said Martin Rankin, FAST’s managing partner. “Like our software, our employee programs evolve and are continually enhanced to provide value-added benefits,” he said. “Innovation is central to FAST’s culture and is integrated in all aspects of our company, from software development to employee engagement.”

FAST employs over 800 professionals who provide software and consulting services to government agencies that administer a variety of tax and revenue, driver and professional licensing, vehicle titling and registration, and unemployment insurance programs.

James Harrison, a FAST founding partner, said the company continues to expand its software offerings and government client base and expects to have more than a thousand employees by the end of 2016. This will make the company eligible, for the first time, for the “U.S. large companies” category of Glassdoor’s Employees’ Choice Awards.

“Whether FAST has 800 or 5,000 employees, we’re confident that our company culture will continue to thrive and resonate with our employees wherever they’re working for FAST around the world,” Harrison said.

FAST’s headquarters and software development center are located in the Denver area, but most employees work on-site with FAST’s government clients at agency offices in the United States, Canada, Asia-Pacific, Europe, and the Caribbean. These employees configure FAST’s software to meet the unique requirements and objectives of agencies that serve diverse stakeholders, populations, and jurisdictions through a variety of government programs.
